Week 1

August: First Week of School

Social Studies:

Monday: Read David Goes to School. Talk about why rules are important at school. Have students brainstorm a list of rules for our classroom. Students will make a "David" to display with their rule writing (see pics). After reading all of the students rules, you will write out the rules the class came up with on your essential agreements chart. (Hint: I use the same rules every year so I am to that list of rules © SLJ11, SLJ16 www.thefirstgradebook.com/2014/08/first-week-mash-up.html)

central idea (Individuals within a community share rights and responsibilities). Tie agreement work you did on the first day. Review the classroom essential hand motions (this will help them remember them better!) We practice our month of school (and then as needed!) © RFL4 classroom essential agreements by having students recite them with hand motions. Use our agreements multiple times a day for the first month of school and then as each day. Talk about the attitude word and how students can show that attitude at the attitude word back to the classroom essential agreements (see the Full List of words) RFL7 www.thefirstgradebook.com/2016/08/building-class-community-2-freebies.html

WHAT OTHER TEACHERS ARE SAYING

thefirstgraderoundup.com

I love how this resource incorporates science and literacy. There's not much time in the day to fit everything in, so I like using this unit to hit both subjects in one block of time.

~Jennifer

This curriculum is definitely one of the best well planned out ones I've used. It's so easy for the kids to understand and they enjoyed all of the activities and really learned and retained a lot.

~Jennifer

This resource is fantastic for a beginning teacher!! I have been teaching for two school years now but neither district has had a social studies and science curriculum for the elementary level. This is providing me with so many resources that I will continue to use for many years.

~Noel

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

thefirstgraderoundup.com

Is there enough content in these units for 2-3 science and social studies lessons a week?

Yes! There is a science or social studies lesson for at least 4 days each week. Many of the lessons are integrated into writing or literacy so that they can also be used during your literacy block to save time.

What resources will I need to teach these units?

There is a linked list of a handful of trade books suggested for each unit. You will also need common supplies for the activities like craft sticks, foil, construction paper, etc...

What standards are used for these units?

These units are based on Arkansas Social Studies standards and the Common Core literacy standards for first grade. Some science units align with the NGSS and others are just basic first grade science from before NGSS.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

thefirstgraderoundup.com

Hey y'all! I'm Whitney Shaddock, the teacher author and blogger at the first grade roundup. I'm a National Board Certified teacher with my Masters Degree and have over 10 years of first grade experience in both high poverty and high wealth public schools. I've taught PreK Sunday School for over 17 years. I married my high school sweetheart in 2006. We were blessed with a beautiful boy in 2012 after years of infertility. In 2019, we adopted premie twins.

In 2011, I opened my TPT store. I love sharing real, practical resources I've tested and used in my own classroom. I am passionate about resources that align with the science of reading and full lesson plans and units to use in my classroom. Oh, and color coding is my love language! ☺

I love meeting new teachers, so let's connect!
